CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—Frank Gotch, the Iowa farmer and George Hackenschmidt, the cultivated Russian student, will determine tomorrow who is the mightiest wrestler in the world.

For tomorrow at the American league park here at 3 o'clock, these premier grapplers will meet to settle the supremacy.

Gotch won their former match in Chicago, April 3, 1908, but he did not pin the shoulder of the Russian "Lion" to the mat, the reason he has never been given universal credit for his victory.

Tomorrow, however, both contestants declare, the match will not end until one man has obtained two falls. It may be necessary to finish the contest under the glare of the spotlights that adorn the roof of the grandstand, but regardless of this the wrestlers are determined to settle their dispute beyond all possible doubt before they leave the park.

With the contest less than 24 hours away, there is great interest in the match. From all parts of the country followers of the sport are coming in. All hotels in the loop district are crowded. All today the downtown ticket offices were busy disposing of the coupons. The total sales up to tonight approximated $70,000. It is expected that at least 25,000 persons will attend the contest and that the gross receipts will be in the neighborhood of $100,000.

Whatever they are, it is certain that they will be larger than any that have taken place in any previous wrestling competition.

Although the turnstiles at the park will not begin to revolve until 10 o'clock tomorrow, tonight ardent devotees of the sport had begun to gather outside the grounds to seek vantage points for an early entrance to the field. Many of them were armed with provided with tickets, but they did not desire to be caught in the crush a few hours before the contestants entered the arena.

Stories of Gotch's wonderful condition which have been circulated since he arrived here Friday, have forced the betting odds on him up to 2 to 1.

While he was still training at Humboldt, Iowa, he was a 6 to 5 favorite, but his work here has caused his stock to rise rapidly.

But little betting is being done, however. As an explanation for this condition, veteran sports say that the element that habitually plunged on his contests of all kinds has not forgotten the prize fight in Reno on July 4, 1910. The so-called "tail-end" plunged and lost on that occasion and although this match in no way resembles that one, the big bettors, having once been bitten, are still timid.

Gotch partisans maintain that he will win because he is the cleverer catch-as-catch-can wrestler, a quicker thinker and perhaps as strong as his opponent. They claim that he displayed his superiority in every department of the sport at their last match and that in the last three years he has improved greatly.

On the other hand, followers of Hackenschmidt say that he is the strongest wrestler that has ever lived, and that in this contest, which, it is generally conceded, will be one requiring great endurance, he will outlast his opponent. Hackenschmidt has devoted the greater part of his training for this contest toward making himself faster.

Dr. B. F. Roller, himself a scientific wrestler and an old running mate of Gotch, has been the Russian's chief trainer. American, another speedy grappler, has also been in the camp. Both assert that Hackenschmidt has greatly increased his speed and that Gotch will not have a single trick that will baffle their pupil.

Both men say they are fit. To all outward appearances they are. But when this phase of the match is under discussion old timers who have been at the ring since the dawn of every important event in the last decade again refer to the Jeffries-Johnson match, pointing out that the greatest experts thought the Alfalfa Farmer was in shape. Somehow the sporting element cannot forget that Reno battle.

Humboldt, Iowa, Gotch's home, virtually is a deserted village tonight. Scores of its citizens who have known Gotch since boyhood swarmed in on him today and were the champion's guests at the Chicago-St. Louis national league ball game. Gotch's aged mother, his wife and members of her family, also attended the game.

In the morning the champion took a brisk run to loosen his muscles. That was the only training he did. He spent the evening reading the hundreds of letters and telegrams wishing him good luck and victory.

There were no signs of worry on the champion's face today. He beamed with smiles in responding to the cheers of the baseball throng, and laughed boyishly when the crowd shouted: "You'll trim Hack sure tomorrow, Frank."

This was a trying day for Hackenschmidt's trainers. The giant wrestler was as petulant as a spoiled child. Dr. Roller says this is a good sign, because it shows the grappler is on edge. The Russian took a short run in the morning, slept a couple of hours during the afternoon and wrestled with Roller, American and John Koch, just before dinner. Hack was unimpaired a baseball game to follow. "I know him quite well," said the lion tamer. "The show quit and nobody was paid."

Among Hackenschmidt's visitors today was Louis K. Pimpel, who used to train lions in a show in which Hackenschmidt did a strong act under the name of "The show quit and nobody was paid."

CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—"I certainly expect to win, for I am basing my plans for victory on my condition, which is better than ever before in my long wrestling career. I also believe that I will be able to meet him at night if necessary. Hackenschmidt's great strength makes him a hard man to defeat. It will be a match in which generalship as well as strength will count. My greater experience should bring me victory."

Just how long it will take, or how I will try to defeat Hackenschmidt, I cannot say. My tactics will depend somewhat on his. I am prepared to wrestle all night if necessary. Hackenschmidt's great strength makes him a hard man to defeat. It will be a match in which generalship as well as strength will count. My greater experience should bring me victory."

FRANK GOTCH AND GEORGE HACKENSCHMIDT, WHO ARE IN FINE FETTLE FOR THEIR GREAT BOUT FOR THE WORLD'S CHAMPIONSHIP

HACKENSCHMIDT EXECUTING CROSS BUTTCK

CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—This afternoon at American League park Frank Gotch, the world's champion wrestler, and George Hackenschmidt, the champion, will meet for the second time on the mat. Both men have trained very conscientiously for the event, and each is said to be in the pink of condition. Gotch's wrestling weight is 206 pounds, and the "Russian Lion" will strip for the fray at about 220 pounds. On April 3, 1908, Gotch and Hackenschmidt met for the first time, and the American got the decision. Hackenschmidt has always claimed that he was in very poor condition and he virtually quit after about two hours of wrestling.

from yesterday's game on the strength of the poor showing made by the Indians in their game of a few weeks ago will regret their action. The Sioux, by maintaining the speed shown yesterday, will be able to furnish ample excitement when hooked up with Gotch's men, and with a little more steadiness in their hurling department would keep the blue boys guessing to win. Summary: Two base hits—Scott (2), Clark, Alexander, Brooks. Bases on balls—Off Fields, 5; Off Murphy 2. Struck out—By Fields 6; by Murphy 7. Left on bases—Ogden 10; Sloux Indians 10. Double play—Gimlin to Clark. Triple play—Rawlings to McGeehan to Wessler. Wild pitch—Fields. Passed ball—Alexander. Hit by pitched ball—Pike. Stolen bases—Crowe, Gimlin. Sacrifice hits—Wessler, Rawlings. Time—1 hour, 25 minutes. Umpire—Mortenson. Attendance—1,200.

The big headline attraction came over in the third. As in the previous frame the Indians started in by clouting the ball for all kinds of hits. Brooks the first man up singled to left and Mose swatted it for one base over second. Crowe beat out a small roller to the infield filling up the sacks.

With none down the situation appeared extremely gloomy. Fields came up and connected with a short fly to Rawlings. There did not seem much chance for the fast little shortstop to make good and all three runners advanced off their bases. Rawlings made a beautiful scooping catch of the ball thus retiring Fields. Quickly recovering himself Rawlings threw to McGeehan retiring Brooks before he could get back to the bag and "Mac" in turn played the ball to Wessler at second in time to tag Mose, thus completing the triple out. It was one of the fastest and most neatly executed plays seen on the local lot.

The Indians scored their first run in the fifth, when Brooks singled, advanced to second on Mose's out and scored on Rawlings' lead have to first. The other two came in the final inning. Navitt started it with a single and scored on Brooks' two-base hit to the same corner. Brooks himself came over when "Dad" Clark failed to negotiate Mose's boundary. "Dad" Gimlin got into the game with a rush in the last round, when he made a running catch of Crowe's lead drive to center, doubling on Mose, who had led too far off first, and retired the side by spearing Fields' long floater.

The unsteadiness of Fields was largely responsible for Ogden's lead of three runs in the second frame. With one down, Gimlin drew a pass and Scott doubled to center, sending "Dad" across with the first runner. Another pass placed Charlie Freine in the running, and Murphy's single filled all the corners. McGeehan drew a life on Fields' choice, Murie playing the ball to the plate and tazing Scott. With the bases still loaded, Fields issued two passes in succession, donating two runs before Clark finally retired the side with a fly to Lon Mathis.

Ogden scored in but two innings, the other being the seventh. A quartette of runs here was directly due to a regulation hoodoo frame clout. Wessler drew a life on Crowe's error at third and scored on Clark's two-bagger to center. Clark went to third on a wild pitch. Rawlings was retired, but Gimlin was gassed and outlined second, both he and Clark coming over on Scott's second smash for two stations. Freine singled, scoring Scott, but eventually expired at third, Murphy and McGeehan hitting out to short.

Featured by a slashing triple play, the first to be pulled off on the local grounds this season, all around last work in all the departments of the game, the contest between "Dad" Gimlin's fast bunch and the Sloux Indian team at the Fair grounds yesterday afternoon furnished the Ogden fans some of the best sport of the year in spite of the wide margin by which the Gimlinites came home in front. The count was 7 to 3.

There was a marked difference in the performance of the Indians at the time of their first game here and their work yesterday. The locals had an entirely different team to oppose and improvement is at least 100 per cent. But for the wildness of Fields, in the mound for the visitors, the

SHE SANG "SHOO FLY" FOR NAPOLEON

In Harper's. Mme. de Hagermann-Lindenroth tells of a second visit to the court of Napoleon III. Her account of singing some of the old American songs for the Emperor is particularly amusing.

"There was some dancing for an hour, when one of the chamberlains came up and said to me that the Emperor would be pleased if I would sing some of my American songs. I was delighted, and I went directly into the Salle de Musique, and when the others had come in I sat down at the piano and accompanied myself in the few negro songs I know, such as 'Swanee River,' 'Shoo Fly' and 'Good-by, Johnny, Come Back Soon to Your Own Chick-a-Biddy.' Then I sang a song of Prince Metternich's called 'Bon Soir, Marguerite,' which he accompanied. I finished, of course, with 'Beware.'"

"The Emperor came up to me and asked: 'What does chick-a-biddy mean?'"

"I answered: 'Come back soon to your own chick-a-biddy' means 'Reviews blent a ta cherie,' which apparently satisfied him."

"Their majesties thanked me with effusion and were very gracious. The Emperor himself brought a cup of tea to me, which is very unusual for him to do, and I fancy a great compliment, saying: 'This is for our chick-a-biddy.'"

"Their majesties bowed in leaving the room, every one made a deep reverence, and we departed to our apartments
